Supporting information for article:

The X-ray structure of juvenile hormone diol kinase from the silkworm Bombyx mori

Jingxu Guo, Ronan M. Keegan, Daniel J. Rigden, Peter T. Erskine, Steve P. Wood, Sheng Li and Jonathan B. Cooper
Figure S1  The structure of the coelenterazine binding protein from Renilla muelleri (PDB entry 2hps) showing the location of the luciferin molecule in ball-and-stick representation. The putative ATP binding site of JHDK is indicated by the hollow black circle.